

JUMPING CLAIMS.

That Was the Order of the Day at Nome, Alaska, Before the Arrival of the Military.

BLOODSHED AND DISORDER AVERTED.

Labor Organizations Prevented Many Men From Working for Less Than One Dollar an Hour.

There is a large area in the Territory which has not been prospected where gold can yet be found.

Washington, Nov. 5.—Brig. Gen. George M. Randall, commanding the Department of Alaska, who arrived September 20, at St. Michael, has submitted his annual report. A great deal of the report is devoted to conditions at Nome, which he found upon his arrival at a critical stage. It was difficult to obtain convictions by a jury trial in the United States commissioner's court, which emboldened the lawless. Labor organization prevented the men from working for less than $1 an hour, and were the cause of much destruction and want and destruction of property.

Many people arrived in June. Fully 15,000 people arrived at Nome in June. Claim jumping was the order of the day. Nearly every one seemed to think he had a divine right to take possession of a claim or town lot which he found. Many property owners were disposed to defend their rights by taking the law in their own hands. The arrival of troops prevented bloodshed and serious disorder. On the morning of the chamber of commerce, the military took charge, thoroughly examined into all complaints, and where the rights of property were determined placed it in the possession of the lawful owner. Capt. W. A. Bethel, who acted as judge advocate in these cases, is highly praised by Gen. Randall.

The sanitary conditions were placed under control of Maj. Chas. E. Bert, surgeon, who has heretofore reported good conditions. The energetic efforts of the military improved these conditions during the summer. There were about 500 men working on the beach at Nome with machinery at one time, and many declined to give answers concerning the prospects for gold, while others admitted they were taking out only from $5 to $8 a day. The beach was practically worked out last year. The tundra is believed to be rich, but it would require large capital to produce results.

Military Post at St. Michaels. There is a large area of country which has not been prospected, where gold can be found. Only two men of experience to develop such a country. Gen. Randall discusses the various points where mining operations have been conducted. He says it has been decided to establish a permanent military post on the island of St. Michaels. He recommends the purchase of two tugboats, wheel steamers for operations on the Yukon and that all coal, forage and building material intended for Alaska should be shipped from Seattle not later than June 15 and shipped in sailing vessels for economy; also that a cable be laid from Seattle, via Juneau and Skagway.

New York, Nov. 5.—The steamship St. Paul, of the American line, Capt. Roberts in command, arrived in port Sunday 24 hours late, with her starboard propeller gone and her engine room badly damaged. Statements of different officials vary as to the cause of the accident, but the damage sustained by the steamship will probably amount to several hundred thousand dollars.

The St. Paul left Southampton and Cherbourg on October 27 with a full cargo, 216 cabin passengers and 245 in the steerage.

Acting Manager's Statement.

Samuel Bettie, the acting manager of the American line, said Sunday, after consultation with Chief Engineer Hunter:

"At 3:06 o'clock on Wednesday, while the ship was running at full speed, under the command of the captain, although she was pitching and rolling a good deal, the St. Paul's propeller probably struck a derelict. The derelict was just inside the ship and the extreme end of the propeller dropped into the sea and serious damage was done to the starboard engine, which was stopped within ten seconds. None of the ship was injured and there was no excitement among the passengers, many of whom remained undisturbed at dinner, unaware that an accident had occurred."

Another Account.

One of the engineers of the St. Paul made the following statement Sunday night:

"It will take five months to repair the damage, which is to the extent of from $250,000 to $300,000. The starboard engine is a wreck. The derelict did not strike a derelict, but an unusually big sea struck her, throwing the stern out of water, and the propeller, which was running at full speed, was thrown into the air and fell into the water. The amount of damage done is not surprising when you take into consideration the sudden liberation of 10,000 horse power."

The St. Paul will leave on Tuesday for the Cramp shipyard, Philadelphia, where the necessary repairs will be made. Neutrality the President, who will sail on Wednesday for New York, will take the St. Paul's passengers, mail and freight to Southampton.

INDIAN AFFAIRS.

The Annual Report of Agent Schoenfeld, in Charge of the Union Agency.

PROTECTION FOR INDIAN CITIZENS.

White Men Intrude Themselves Upon Redskins and Secure Possession of Their Prospective Allotments.

The Total Population of the "Five Civilized Tribes" is Estimated at 84,750, the real numbers are Unknown.

Washington, Nov. 5.—United States Indian Agent Schoenfeld, in charge of the Union agency, whose jurisdiction comprises the five civilized tribes, protests in his annual report against unlawful occupation of the Indian lands and against the commission of the Indians to protect the Indian title against the encroachments of aggressive and grasping whites. Of 2,000 complaints filed against non-Indians by Indians in the last fiscal year a large majority were against white men who in the past had intruded themselves upon the Indians and had enlisted their confidence to a sufficient degree to secure possession of their prospective allotments, and, after having secured possession, refused either to pay rent or to vacate, thus preventing the Indians from receiving any rents or profits therefrom.

The Indian Lands.

Many of the Indians are too poor to institute suit for the possession and, therefore, are left helpless. The total population of the five civilized tribes is estimated at 84,750, comprising 30,245 Choctaws and Chickasaws, 10,500 Creeks and Freedmen, 10,000 Cheas and Freedmen, 35,000 Creek and Freedmen and 3,000 Seminole, and their lands comprise a total of 11,772,266 acres.

The agent says that there is no every reason to believe that the Indian depredations and disturbances in the five tribes region are at an end. A few half-blooded Creeks are strenuously opposing the allotments of lands, and have banded together and refuse to accept their allotments.

To Tax Non-Citizen Residents.

A large majority of the Creeks, however, have actually made their selection. The report recommends that congress appropriate out of the Cherokee funds a sufficient amount to pay the indebtedness of the nation, and that the government should use the five tribes to adopt a uniform system of taxing non-citizen residents and doing business in the limits of their nation, and that the government should use the five tribes to adopt a uniform system of taxing non-citizen residents and doing business in the limits of their nation, and that the government should use the five tribes to adopt a uniform system of taxing non-citizen residents and doing business in the limits of their nation.
